

T400S fusion spliced optical cable

Overview

The T-400S is a high-speed, precise fusion splicer designed for optimal performance in both field and lab environments. It features automatic splicing, rapid heat times, and a user-friendly interface, all in a compact and durable design. Sumitomo's new T-400S Active Sleeve Aligned Fiber Splicer provides reliable fiber optic cable termination, a high-resolution display, fiber cable end control, and estimated loss value after splicing. With that only machine you will be able to do your all FTTx splicing, witch means the.
